Why Choose us

Intelligence

Cultural and technological developments are reshaping how we work. Our industry knowledge and expertise means we design intelligent workspaces using the best innovations to help you work smarter today and in the future

Customer focus

It's all about you, it's not about our ego. We take time to understand your organisation, brand, challenges and ambitions then work with you to create your ideal workspace.

Saving you time

With years of experience in the office furniture industry, we deliver expertise so you can get on with your job Requirements Analysis.

Saving you money

Our excellent manufacturer relationships and buying power mean we can negotiate the best price for you. Our skills enable us to keep our overheads and your costs down.

Return on investment

We create work spaces that people like to spend time in, helping you attract and retain the best clients and staff. We improve your organisation's efficiency by creating intelligent workspaces that optimise space utilisation, facilitate work flow and boost productivity.

Working your way

We can work on everything from complete design solutions to realising an element of an architect's vision. Our comprehensive workspace solutions enable you to pick the services you need to deliver your project.

Integrity

We act honestly and fairly to both our clients and our suppliers. We can look after our clients because we look after our suppliers.

Peace of mind

Our systems, processes and supply chains have been tested over the past 5 years. Our expertise in project management takes the risk and stress out of your relocation, refurbishment or installation.

Effective collaboration

We love delivering complete designs but we're just as happy working as part of a team. A large proportion of our clients are key specifiers, such as architects, interior designers, project managers and quantity surveyors – they create the vision, we make it happen.

Long-term relationships

Our relationship isn't over when we install your furniture – it's just the beginning. We deliver unrivalled return on investment by working with you throughout and beyond the lifetime of your furniture, helping you future proof as your organisation evolves. And we're pretty good at it – our client retention is over 90%.

Services

Budgeting

Start planning your ideal workspace with our office furniture planner. It puts you in control of your project by helping you identify your total project spend and what you can get for your money.

Workspace Solutions

Arper

Arper ascribe to the belief that an object as elemental as a chair or a table is still subject to insight or innovation and that even after eons of development there is still something to be done. Good design is a synthesis of technique, cost, material, function, use, taste and sustainability. That concentration of meanings, associations and possibilities must reside in simple, singular forms. The best objects carry a rich, intellectual density in a shape that seems natural and effortless feeling spontaneous while clearly the result of rigour and precision.
